ERIC MEOLA
Biography

About the Photographer: Eric Meola graduated from Syracuse University in 1968 with a B.A. in English literature, and went on to assist noted photographer Pete Turner in New York in 1969 and 1970. Meola's graphic color images have appeared editorially in major magazines, including Life, Travel & Leisure, Esquire, and Time, for which he did three covers. In 1975 he photographed the classic cover for Bruce Springsteen's album, "Born to Run." Since then he has done advertising and corporate photography for many clients, including Canon, IBM, Kodak, American Express, AT & T, United Technologies, Jeep, Rollerblades, BMW, Timberland and Johnnie Walker. His prints are in several private collections and museums, including the ASMP archive, the National Portrait Gallery in Washington, D.C., the International Center of Photography in New York, and the Museum of Modern Art in Munich. He has won many awards, including the 2004 Lucie Award for LAST PLACES ON EARTH, 1986 "Advertising Photographer of the Year" award from the American Society of Media Photographers, and in 1989 he was the only photographer in Adweek magazine's national "Creative All-Star Team." That same year he received a "Clio" for the images he made for Timberland.
